

Best Practices for Federal Cybersecurity Awareness Training.

---

Mandatory cybersecurity awareness training. Do your IT users love it or hate it? (We think we know the answer.) How do you coax users into completing it? How do you measure effectiveness? Are you connected with all of your stakeholders? With experience gleaned through participation in NICE, we've fused ideas from human capital, occupational psychology, education, and the cybersecurity domain itself to propose a series of best practices for cybersecurity awareness programs. The audience is our panel: we'll include ample time for you—whether in the auditorium or on the webcast—to share the best practices that you've encountered or implemented...and to refine ours.