

Biography for Daniel Stein

Dan Stein is a Program Analyst in the Department of Homeland Security's National Cyber Security Division, focusing on formal cybersecurity education. His portfolio includes program leadership of DHS's engagements with the National Science Foundation for co-sponsorship of the Federal Cyber Service: Scholarship for Service Program; the National Security Agency for co-sponsorship of the National Centers of Academic Excellence programs; the U.S. Department of Agriculture for co-sponsorship of the Federal Virtual Worlds Collaboration Project; and the recently established Cybersecurity Education and Training Assistance Program (CETAP). Mr. Stein is an active participant in NICE and NICE-aligned efforts to promote national cybersecurity education.