Coordinator Comment:
Add the definition of critical program and high value assets (HVAs) into the beginning of the discussion. Add…”

An agency may designate Federal information or a Federal information system as an HVA when it relates to one or more of the following categories:

- Informational Value – The information or information system that processes, stores, or transmits the information is of high value to the Government or its adversaries.
- Mission Essential – The agency that owns the information or information system cannot accomplish its Primary Mission Essential Functions (PMEF), as approved in accordance with Presidential Policy Directive 40 (PPD-40) National Continuity Policy, within expected timelines without the information or information system.
- Federal Civilian Enterprise Essential (FCEE) – The information or information system serves a critical function in maintaining the security and resilience of the Federal civilian enterprise (OMB M-19-03).”

Coordinator Justification:
NIST 800-171 Rev.B focuses on the protection of critical programs and HVAs, particularly against the advanced persistent threat. The OMB M-19-03 footnote is an excellent reference for the definition of who defines critical programs and HVAs and the high level criteria for designating HVAs based on information value, mission essential confirmation, and the security and resilience of the federal civilian enterprise. It is worth bringing this subject matter out of the footnote and making it a part of the main opening discussion, since designating critical programs and HVAs will denote what assets need to be protected with the enhanced security requirements of the NIST SP 800-171 Rev.B.
