✓ I have read, understood, and accepted the following rules of participation:

1. Members are encouraged to participate in Forum list discussions and attend virtual events. Please maintain appropriate language and tone throughout all conversations, respecting one another and respecting our guest speakers.
2. Members are automatically subscribed to the Forum list. Posting messages to the Forum list (fcsn@list.nist.gov) will reach approximately 1,000 members. By default, Forum list subscribers receive an email each time a message is sent. Subscribers have the option to receive digest or abridged versions of the messages.
3. Not all messages may be appropriate to be shared outside the Forum list. Please contact the original poster before forwarding messages to non-subscribers. Keep in mind that anything posted to the Forum list may be subject to public release, so do not share sensitive content.
4. Avoid posting messages over 20 MB in size. We suggest that any such items be made available "upon request" or shared using alternative means.
5. Please do not send out responses to the entire list with comments such as "I concur," "thank you," "me too," etc. These types of replies/comments can be sent directly to the individual that posted the original message.
6. Please do not forward calendar invitations to the list except .ics (calendar file) attachments.
7. NIST reserves the right to remove members who do not comply with the intent of the service or become disruptive to the service that NIST has provided for Forum use.
